CLOVERPORT TO HAVE A LOOSE LEAF TOBACCO WAREHOUSE

Arrangements Completed Last Week Paul Lewis Is One Of The Interested Parties.

Mr. Walter Atherton of Livermore, Ky., was at Cloverport Friday completing arrangements for the erection of a loose leaf tobacco warehouse. The interested parties are Paul Lewis of Owensboro, Ky., and Walter Atherton of Livermore, Ky.

The large lot just below the Cloverport Ice Plant has been secured on which the building with a capacity of over 200,000 pounds floor space will be built.

The location of the lot permits of the installation of a switch for the direct loading of tobacco into cars for Owensboro and Louisville. The floor is to be of concrete with a wagonway the entire length of the building for unloading tobacco. Loading out doors will be on the opposite side.

This house will be equipped with the roller basket system. More tobacco can be handled with this system than with the old style baskets as the baskets can be blocked together when loading the floor and opened out during the sale. They also save fully one-third the labor when running the floor.

Mr. Boyle of Owensboro will have the direct supervision of the floor. He has been associated with the Livermore House and has three years experience in the loose leaf business. Mr. Atherton will continue to be in charge of the Livermore house.

The Livermore House was built by Boyle and Atherton three years ago and has had a successful business from the start, selling something like one third more tobacco this year than any previous season. The buyers gave their promise to support that market before the house was built and this they have not done, thus the tobacco growers of McLean county have received Owensboro prices at home, saving the long haul and expensive trip to Owensboro.

The promoters of the loose leaf tobacco warehouse at Cloverport practically have the assurance of all the large companies of Owensboro that they will be glad to patronize the Cloverport point. Being on a direct line to Louisville it is hoped to have a number of buyers from that city and with the local buyers Cloverport has the promise of being one of the largest markets in the Green River district outside of Owensboro.

Mr. B. H. Sanders of North Carolina, one of the best auctioneers of the state has been selected by Boyle and Atherton at Livermore for the past two years and it is the intention to secure his services for the coming season at Cloverport.

A NOBLE WOMAN PASSES BEYOND

Mrs. Emma Claycomb of Webster. Lived a Triumphant Life To The Very Last.

Webster, Ky., Mar. 10, 1919. (Special)—Mrs. Mary Emma Claycomb, wife of Charles H. Claycomb of Webster, Ky. died March 8th, 1919.

Mrs. Claycomb was a woman who possessed the very finest traits of early years of childhood and joined character. She was converted in the the Methodist church at Webster where she has lived a beautiful and true Christian life to the very end of her earthly pilgrimage. Though handicapped most of her life by a frail body, she nevertheless, had a great soul. She bore her sufferings bravely and met the world with a smiling face. Her deep devotion to her family her loyalty to her church and her ardent love for the Master were qualities that every one saw appreciated in her life.

Not often do you find such a resolute will, strong faith and gentle spirit in so fragile tenement of clay. These were the qualities of soul which kept her going about her duties, both in the home and in the church, when others as frail as she would have given up. She was universally respected and loved. It is not surprising that she died so triumphant a death; she Morrison has only been in the States a few weeks having arrived with the casualties from France just a short time ago and was sent to the Base Hospital in Camp Taylor.

Corp. Morrison wears three wound stripes on his left sleeve, and he can tell you all the horrors of being shell shocked, and how it feels to be right in the thick of the fight because he has been there in reality. He was one of the first Cloverport boys to enlist in the World War, and he was given a most enthusiastic welcome home by his many friends who entertained him extensively.

Corp. Morrison expects to be released from service as soon as he is physically fit for work.

had lived a triumphant life. She was conscious almost to the last moment and spoke words of affection and counsel to her dear ones.

Just before passing away the veil that hides from us the mysterious beyond was drawn aside and she said that she saw the light on the other shore. Ah, it was that light ne'er seen on land or sea; yea it was the light of the glory of God. She is gone to dwell in that light and "there shall be no darkness there, and there God. Himself shall wipe all tears from our eyes."

The bereaved family who are left to mourn her departure are a true and devoted husband, Charles H. Claycomb, two precious children, Percival and Laura, a brother, James Kurtz, two sisters, Mrs. J. C. Crutcher and Mrs. Tom Lyddan. Besides these there is a host of friends whose hearts are sad because of her passing.

The funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. R. L. Sleamaker, assisted by her former pastor, L. K. May. Her body was laid to rest in the beautiful Cedar Hill cemetery at Irvington. "She is not dead but sleepeth"

CHILDREN'S WEEK

To Be Observed April 27 To May 4. Continent-Wide Campaign International S. S. Association.

April 27 to May 4, 1919 will be Children's Week. This will be a Continent-Wide Campaign to emphasize the religious education of children. The recent world war has attracted the attention of all patriotic men and women to the enormous value of childhood and the urgent need of conserving the young life of a nation if that nation is to live. But, strong, clean bodies and well trained minds alone can never make democracy safe for the world. Something else is needed and that is trained consciences and wills, consciences which know right from wrong as defined by the Christ, and wills which can force selfish mortals to obey their consciences, to deny themselves and follow the great Master in service to others.

At least thirteen million of the twenty-five millions of children under twelve years of age are receiving no religious education whatever. In May 1917, under the direction of the International Sunday School Association, a Continent Wide Cradle Roll Week was observed for the purpose of emphasizing the Christian nature of babies. This led to thousands of babies being enrolled as Cradle Roll members of the Sunday Schools of the United States, and thousands of mothers and fathers became interested in the church life. This led to the observance of Children's Week in 1918. The success of the study of childhood during that week and the bringing of parents with teachers in the Sunday Schools and public schools brought whole communities to thinking of the spiritual need of their children. In 1919 an interesting program for the week has been prepared and can be secured from the Kentucky Sunday School Association.

MOVEMENT ON FOOT TO CONSTRUCT METAL ROAD TO LOUISVILLE

The road builders school, held in Lexington last week, and attended by road engineers, county judges and members of fiscal courts from all over the state, was one of the most successful ever held in the state. Those who attended from Owensboro were County Judge C. W. Wells, County Engineer J. W. Spurrier, Assistant Engineer H. W. Taylor and Commissioners W. N. Horn and W. G. Riney and A. W. Holder of Whitesville. Hugh Crozer, divisional engineer, with headquarters at Owensboro, also attended the meeting.

County Engineer Spurrier and Mr. Crozer discussed gravel roads at the meeting, and much interest was manifested by those in attendance in this subject. Mr. Taylor read a paper road bookkeeping.

Plan Highway To Louisville.

One of the results of the meeting was the movement inaugurated to construct a metal road from Henderson county to Louisville. Within the next two weeks representatives from Henderson, Daviess, Hancock, Breckinridge, Meade and Hardin counties will hold a meeting to discuss a route for the highway. Daviess county has a metal road from the Henderson to the Hancock county line. Mr. Spurrier is in favor of a route by the way of Fordville, then through Breckinridge and Meade counties to West Point where a junction could be made with the Dixie highway into Louisville.

Prospects Are Fine.

Mr. Spurrier says that the prospects are better for good roads in the state than ever before and that the delegates were enthusiastic over the plans for the coming year. He says the government appropriations will be much more this year than before and will enable the road workers to carry out their plans for improving the roads.

At the close of the meeting resolutions were passed asking the next legislature to enact laws to provide for the establishment and financing of a state road system of through highways built and maintained entirely by the state and federal government. It is also urged that such a system be provided at once, and that it be financed by a state levy of 30 cents on each $100 worth of taxable property and by doubling the present automobile fees. It was also asked that provision be made to assist the counties in the construction and maintenance of roads other than those included in the state road system.—Owensboro Messenger.
